DISTRICT WHEAT

CONDITION IS 76

Wheat condition is 76 in the seven counties of Southwest Missouri. Lawrence county has the best wheat, according to the statement by the State Board of Agriculture issued yesterday. In that county the condition is 92 per cent of normal.

Condition in other counties is: Barry, 76; Barton, 72; Dade, 78; Jasper, 70; McDonald, 70; Newton, 69.

The condition of wheat over the United States is estimated at 82 on a greatly reduced acreage. The winter wheat crop last year was 740 million bushels. For next year the estimate based on percentages would be about 460 million bushels. With a normal spring wheat crop, or about 275 million bushels, the total would be about 735 million bushels, or less than the winter wheat at the last harvest.

Wheat prices are increasing in terminal markets. The government has released its holdings and the visible supply is shrinking. Figures showing exports not yet available but the tone of wheat markets is strong and the high levels of prices have not been reached. It is predicted freely that higher prices than ever will be obtained before harvest.—Joplin Globe.
